

Paper Trail Is Left By Kidnaped Woman

Police Think Nomads Mean To Sell Her

Troops and Police Reported Closing In On Fleeing Bandits

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Government officials said today that troops and police had picked up a paper trail left by a pretty American woman kidnaped by bandit tribesmen who killed her husband and another U. S. aid official.

Government sources said they believed the band of nomads, about 12 in number, had kidnaped Mrs. Anita Hyovar Carroll, 35, Issaquah, Wash., to "sell her on the Arab coasts of the Persian Gulf and the Gulf of Oman."

More than 1,000 Iranian troops and police were reported closing in on the bandits fleeing across the Tangeorkheh Desert of south-eastern Iran. There was some speculation they might be trying to escape into Pakistan.

Reports reaching the capital from the remote area said the search force had "found little pieces of paper thrown away by Mrs. Carroll as she was forcibly taken away." The reports said the hunters found the paper trail very useful in their pursuit.

The dead Americans, according to Iranian officials, were Mrs. Carroll's husband Kevin, 37, a Point Four area development adviser for Kerman, Iran, and Brewster A. Wilson, 35, Portland, Ore., a regional specialist for the Near East Foundation and a contractor in Iran for the International Co-operation Administration.

Gen. Alimagh Golpiri, police commander in chief, said 700 gendarmes, 400 soldiers and about 100 camel-borne troops on direct orders from Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi were moving in on the bandits. These forces were converging in three columns from north, west and south through rugged desert country in south-eastern Iran, near the Pakistani border.

Rescuers Dig For Victims Of Explosions

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Rescue workers dug through a wrecked block of rubble today seeking more victims of two explosions in a fireworks factory that left more than 100 Mexicans dead or injured. Police hunted the factory owner for questioning.

Eleven bodies—four of them firemen—had been recovered late last night. A hundred persons were hospitalized. Many were not expected to live.

Most of the casualties resulted from the second blast, which came as hundreds of curious neighbors watched firemen fighting the fire after the first explosion. Because it was lunchtime, the factory—apparently in a poor residential district—apparently was empty.

Police said they wanted to question Antonio Joyas Chavez, owner of the factory. Officers said his adjoining warehouse was illegally filled with dynamite and other explosives.

The factory was less than a mile from Mexico City's International Airport and many windows in airport buildings were shattered.

The sound of the two explosions could be heard over the noise of noonday traffic in the heart of the city five miles away.

Governor Rescinds Order For Guards To Quit Their Union

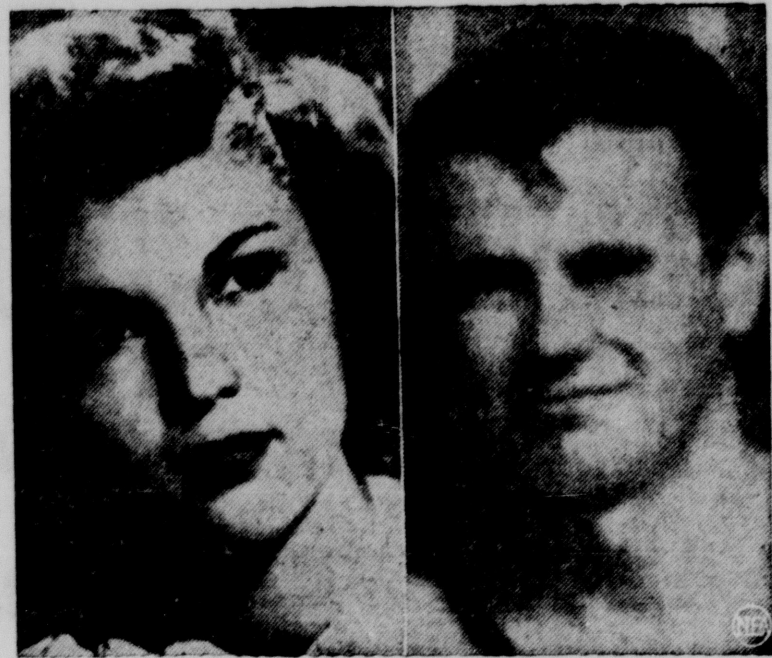

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Missouri prison guards are going to be allowed to join a union after all.

Gov. James T. Blair announced yesterday he and Col. James T. Carter, state corrections director, had decided to wipe out a recent order that the guards must quit their union by April 1 or lose their jobs.

The Governor noted that the union members can't strike, can't bargain collectively and can't get a contract. Under the circumstances, he said, there's no public danger in letting them belong to the union.

Officials of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, Local 674, had announced they would defy the "quit or else" order.

They claim about 200 members in the Corrections Department. Prison officials put the number at around 100.

VICTIMS OF TRAGEDY IN IRAN—Mrs. Anita Carroll, left, was kidnaped and Brewster A. Wilson, right, slain by bandits in Iran. Mrs. Carroll's husband, a Point Four Development expert, was killed with Wilson, a Near East Foundation specialist, while on the way to Port Chahbahar. (NEA Telephoto)

Articles on Speech Therapy Start Today

As a public service for parents, Leon K. Whitney, speech therapist at the Crippled Children's Center, in cooperation with The Democrat-Capital begins a series of articles today relating to speech problems of children. Whitney's first article is found today on Page 6, Section 2. It relates to parents being speech teachers whether they realize it or not. The article endeavors to point out the principles of speech development of children.

Later articles will also show how to detect early deficiencies in speech, their causes, and remedial steps which may be taken either by parents or a clinic.

Whitney recently conducted an evaluation clinic at the Crippled Children's Center for pre-school children. A number of parents took advantage of the clinic for their children. Some of these were given a home program to be administered by the parent, while a few were requested to enroll their children for sessions at the center in which the speech therapist will give individual attention.

Whitney is a nationally-known authority on speech and an author in his own right. He was head of the speech department of the Denver public schools for a number of years prior to retiring from that system. He has been working in speech clinics since his retirement.

Proposes Bill For Airport Zoning Laws

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—An airport zoning bill was introduced in the Missouri Senate today and the sponsor said it was intended to meet the problems caused by the long flight paths of modern jet planes.

Sen. Edgar J. Keating (D) of Kansas City got special permission to introduce the bill. Today was his birthday and no objection was made although regular bill introduction ended March 1.

Keating explained that low flying jets landing at airports like the Grandview Air Base encounter many hazards in their flight paths. Under his bill cities and towns could enact zoning ordinances to limit the height of buildings near airports.

There's Not Much to Probe

Joint Committee Investigating Warrenton Fire Has Tough Time

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—A House-Senate joint committee investigating the Warrenton nursing home fire found the going tough last night.

It had five senators, five representatives, seven witnesses, a recording setup, a few spectators all of voting age, and all the elements going to make up a rip-roaring investigation.

But it couldn't find much to probe.

It was told, in so many words, that it was wasting time.

The witnesses all participated in the investigation following the blaze at the Katie Jane nursing home in Warrenton that took 72 lives on Feb. 27. None of them could light the path for the committee.

'Around The World' Best Picture

Ingrid, Yul Receive Oscars

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The movie industry has given its highest honor to Ingrid Bergman, who left Hollywood amid scandal and criticism eight years ago and hasn't returned.

The 42-year-old Swedish star won the Academy Oscar her second—at its 29th annual awards presentations last night. The prize was for her sensitive portrayal of the bewildered Russian princess in "Anastasia."

Miss Bergman, in Paris, was the star in absentia of ceremonies in which Yul Brynner won the top-actor award for "The King and I" and "Around the World in 80 Days" was acclaimed the best picture of 1956.

Winners of supporting-player awards were Dorothy Malone, as a sexy Texan heiress in "Written on the Wind," and Anthony Quinn, as eccentric artist Gauguin in "Lust for Life."

Ingrid was the wife of a Beverly Hills surgeon and the mother of his daughter when she went to Italy and became the mother of a child by Italian director Roberto Rossellini. She later married him. "Anastasia," which marked her return to American films, had a European locale. Miss Bergman asked onetime costar Cary Grant to accept her Oscar in case she won.

She won an Oscar in 1944 for "Gas Light."

A top studio executive who asked not to be identified said last night that he tried five years ago to cast Miss Bergman in a film, but encountered so much industry pressure he had to drop the plan.

News Lid Proposal Rejected

Pentagon Chief Also Turns Down Limiting Defense Interviews

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson rejected today a proposal that reporters be hauled before grand juries if necessary to discover the source of published "leaks" about military information.

The Pentagon chief also turned down a smacking of "censorship" recommendations to limit newsmen to "approved" interviews with defense officials, and to require that those interviews be in the presence of official monitors.

The recommendations were made last fall by a committee composed of Charles Coolidge, former assistant secretary of defense, and four retired generals and admirals.

The department committee was created to study information problems.

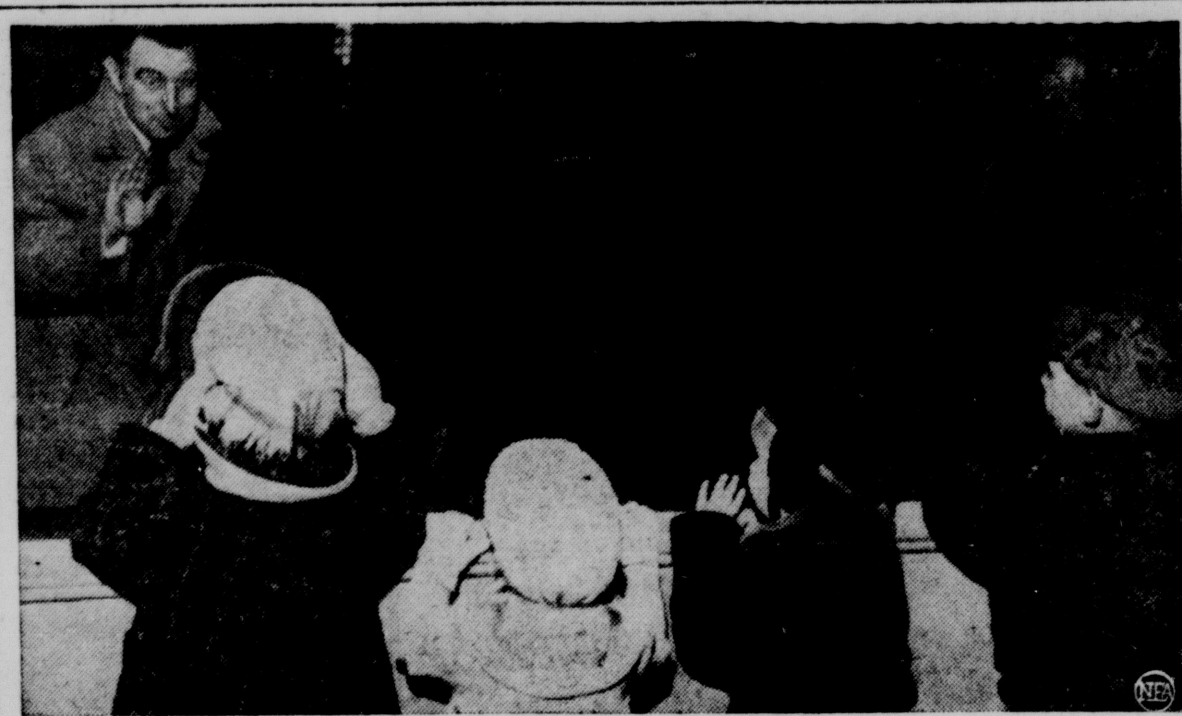

When the committee submitted its recommendations, Wilson expressed "serious reservations" about the proposal to summon reporters before grand juries.

Wilson's actions in relation to the report were taken in a series of directives.

Wilson said in turning down the grand jury proposal that there were ample laws and procedures to handle such matters and that in any case the Justice Department has the authority to summon witnesses before grand juries.

Wilson said, however, that the Defense Department had an obligation to find the sources of leaks of military information and had authority to discipline its military or civilian employees as well as to "recommend prosecution of other persons" to the attorney general if the facts warranted.

'Up In Central Park' Is Theme

Smith - Cotton PTA to Present Variety and Style Show Tonight

Gay as the Gay Nineties is the theme of the variety show which will be presented by the music department of Smith-Cotton High School at 7:30 o'clock tonight and the same time tomorrow night.

The years will turn back to fashions of that day "Up In Central Park", the show's theme, but there will be little difference in the youthful faces and smiles of the girls and boys of that day and the youngsters on the stage tonight.

The faces of teenagers don't change, it is the styles in dress, the manners, perhaps, and the hairdos. Some of the boys might have a little trouble trying to part their crew cuts in the middle but the girls may add a switch, which was the thing to do in those days and is being done now.

Against a background of a park, a carousel with pastel horses, the bandstand with its red, white and blue bunting, will be young people in fashions of the Gay Nineties singing songs of that day and dancing.

But following the variety show will be a parade of fashions of today. All the new spring styles for the coming Easter season will be modeled to give a preview of what will be worn by men and women, boys and girls big and little on that joyous day.

Stores to present their models tonight are: J. C. Penney's, Mrs. Wayne Prichard and Robin Prichard; Marsha and Dennis Eding and Carol Pugh; Cynthia Moore and Cecil Roberts; Sue Ann Richardson and Charles Bell; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Roberts; Mrs. Norman Childs; Lanny Benson, Miss Margo Pooler and Miss Mike Butts.

Jeidell Vogue: Miss Judy Jeidell, Miss Mary Lou Cook, Mrs. William Ecklerle; Miss Carolee Shirley, Mrs. Dan Doty Jr., and Miss Kathleen Means.

Lockett's Ladies' Shop: Miss Susan Schien, Miss D'Anne Brougher, Miss Nancy Garst, Mrs. Tom Wilson, Miss Tula Van Dyne, Miss Sherry Stauffer; Miss Nancy Frickie; Miss Barbara Dougherty; Miss Linda Wiesing and Miss Diane Sklar.

Russell Brothers: LeRoy Street, Jerry Fox and James Hiernonymus.

Youth Shop: Ruth Arns, Diane Kinder, Nancy Downs, William Hamilton, Susan Knaus, Jimmy and Sally Shoemaker, Kathy Lynn Schults, Christie Lee Valbracht and Susanne Wasson.

Burton's: Janice White, Jackie Wilson, Linda and Sharon Vedder, Beverly Gamber, Mary Keith, Mrs. Carl Bellamy, Virginia Leiter, Judy Brown and Marilyn Goldman.

Jaycees Will Hold Annual Show at Park

The Sedalia Jaycees will sponsor their fourth annual exhibit of furniture, appliances, food, new building materials, sports equipment and other gadgets for modern living at the Convention Hall in Liberty Park on April 22, 23 and 24.

Formerly known as the Sedalia Home Show, the exhibit's name was changed this year to allow a wider variety of merchandise to be shown. Sedalia's show of modern living will be known as the Merchandise Fair this year.

Also added this year will be two style shows each evening. The style shows will be 15 minutes long and will be put on by Sedalia clothing stores.

The Jaycees started selling space for their annual show in February. According to reports from the Jaycee committee, the choice of booths is beginning to narrow down.

The doors will open at 3 o'clock each afternoon and stay open until 11 each night. No admission will be charged.

Members of the Merchandise Fair committee are H. W. Harris, Jr., chairman, Gene Knothe, Doyle Funnell and Ed Rogers. Anyone who would like further information on exhibit space can contact one of the committee members or call the Chamber of Commerce.

Its Endorsers Dislike Prima Facie Section

Would Set Daytime Limits at 70 and 65, Night Limits at 60

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—The Missouri speed law bill got another working over in Senate committee yesterday, but once more was held over for further study.

Representatives of the Highway Patrol and of various Kiwanis clubs throughout the state endorsed the bill. But all of them recommended an absolute speed limit rather than the prime facie section now in the bill.

The measure would set daytime speed limits at 70 mph on divided pavements, 65 mph on other highways in the daytime, and 60 mph on all highways at night.

But the bill as written says the fact a driver is exceeding those limits is "prima facie" evidence that the law is being broken—which generally means that the driver may prove in court that the excess speed under some circumstances is not careless and reckless driving.

This clause was tacked on in house arguments after a House committee had bogged down on the original bill and wrote a substitute. Witnesses yesterday said it weakens the bill.

Col. Hugh H. Waggoner, Highway Patrol superintendent, told the committee the state needs a speed law but officers probably would be better off with the present "reasonable and prudent" speed law than the new bill with the prime facie clause.

There was also lots of testimony but no action on the "big truck bill" a measure which would allow tractor-trailers to be 50 feet long, 13½ feet high, and about two tons heavier than the present restrictions. They are now limited to 45 feet in length, 12½ feet in height.

Testifying on this proposal yesterday were representatives of the State Highway Department, which tried to maintain a neutral attitude toward the measure.

James Turner of the Highway Department presented—at the request of the committee—a 1953 Highway Department study which showed that big trucks were paying about $4 million less than their share of highway costs, while passenger cars and light trucks were paying about that much more.

This report—never released by the highway department—drew fire from the truckers' representatives. They claimed it was "out of focus" in being based on presumptions that were wrong in the first place.

Rex M. Whitton, chief engineer, said the report had never received final approval, pending a study to determine if the basic factors were fair and accurate. He said also that it was held up because the federal government is building a test strip in Illinois where known axle loads will prove "more conclusively" who is right.

Whitton objected to the use of the term "suppressed report," which has been used.

"This report was not suppressed," he said. "It just wasn't released."

H-Bomb Test Question Is Put Before UN Group

LONDON (AP)—The controversial issue of ending H-bomb tests was laid before the U.N. disarmament subcommittee today.

Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin, taking his cue from the Kremlin, demanded at a closed meeting yesterday that the questions be placed at the top of the agenda, informed sources said. The four Western members of the committee reluctantly agreed.

"We felt the disarmament talks would have a better chance of making progress if we began in the field where we're closest to agreement," a highly placed observer said.

The Western powers on the subcommittee—Britain, France, the United States and Canada—wanted to start off in the field on conventional armaments.

Until yesterday, the week-long talks had proceeded smoothly through a general discussion of various disarmament plans advanced by Russia and the West.

Zorin's proposal obviously stemmed from a new declaration by the Soviet Foreign Ministry Tuesday that Russia would immediately halt nuclear tests if Britain and America would do the same.

Visible In April, May

Sedalia Club to Set Up Telescope to View Comet

By Russell Maag

A new comet discovered by S. Arend and M. Roland of Uccle Observatory, Belgium, on photographs taken last Nov. 8, may become one of the most striking naked-eye objects to be seen in late April and most of the month of May. The comet will be best seen low in the southwestern sky just after sunset and as the days pass will noticeably move toward the northwest and will be a conspicuous object toward the middle of May. Professional and amateur observers have been watching and photographing the object the past few weeks. At this writing the comet is close to the sun and therefore cannot be seen, however, as it moves away from the sun during the above stated months it will again be picked up by observers and its path and brightness measured with instruments.

The Sedalia Astronomy Club will have telescopes available for observing as well as photography. At its brightest the comet will appear at its nucleus as bright as one of the first magnitude stars. It should produce a bright tail which might extend away from the nucleus several degrees. It is difficult to predict just how bright the nucleus and tail may get as well as how long, but according to present calculations this may be as bright as Halley's Comet which was last seen in 1910. Halley's comet was the brightest to be seen this century and your reporter has talked to several people in Sedalia community who remember seeing it in the spring of 1910.

Historically comets have caused more excitement than any other celestial objects. Battles have been stopped, proclamations have been issued, whole populations have been thrown into panic, kings have abdicated from their thrones, men have died from fear or committed suicide and there are many other reports in the literature of the effects these objects have caused among superstitious people. Your reporter only hopes that this new comet will be an omen for better weather conditions to produce better crops so that once again we can experience a more normal farm economy.

Mr. & Mrs. SEDALIA YOU DESERVE TO KNOW

- Where Your Tax Dollar Goes!
- Where Your Policemen Patrol!
- How The Councilmen Conduct Your Business!
- Who Decides Which Improvements Are Best For You!

1. We believe in the two party system of government and recognize that such a system should also apply to the city government. At the present time and for a considerable period in the past, the sole control of the governmental affairs of the City of Sedalia has been vested in the Democrat Party. Such control over a long period has not been conducive to the best interest of the people. A tendency exists to conduct affairs of the City more to the best interest of the public officials than to the best interest of the people generally. The election of Republican members to the city council will hamper and tend to reverse such political tendency.

2. We strictly believe, as a political party, that the recently acquired water system shall be conducted on an efficient business basis. Partisan politics should have no part in its administration. It should be operated for the best interest of all the people of the city. It should be under the control of men who will be first concerned with operating the system as a business. We oppose any move to fill the jobs available with political hacks or other persons unqualified for the work which they are to perform.

3. We oppose the expenditure of tax money by the city for the promotion of any bond issue by resorting to advertising and by merely setting forth the reasons for approving such bond issue. The city should not, directly or indirectly, promote any bond issue or advertise the same, except as required by law so as to give the voters the pertinent facts. Tax money should be spent for the public at large and not as a means of propaganda. It is for the people to decide, and not the city administration, whether any bond issue should be approved. The city should take a neutral position so far as the expenditure of tax money is concerned.

4. Frequent complaints are made that the police of the city are seen driving the city police cars outside the city limits. We believe there is ample work to confine them within the city limits. We question the legality as well as the wisdom of members of the police force taking over the functions of the sheriff's office and the highway patrol outside the city boundaries.

5. The present policy on the part of the city to resubmit bond issues within a short period after an election disapproving such issue, cannot be approved as in harmony with the principles of sound representative government. After the people have spoken, the city should not seek to cram the matter down their throats. A fair and reasonable period of time should be allowed to elapse before the matter is re-submitted to vote and there should be some change in conditions since the prior election. Resubmission after a short time after the rejection, with no change in conditions, is more in harmony with dictatorship than democracy.

6. We are proud to point to the administration of President Eisenhower as a Republican president. We know that the candidates nominated by this convention will be motivated by the high ideals of this great president. The people are entitled to have officials who believe in good government. Such officials, the Republican party of Sedalia can provide.

7. We believe that the elimination of closed caucuses before council meetings will result in more impartial city government.

8. We believe that on all public works sealed bids covering labor and material should be presented in regular open council meetings and opened at that time only.

9. We believe that the city should publish a complete list of expenditures once each year as the county now provides.

Thorburn Speaks On Conservation To the DAR's

Otis Thorburn, field service agent with the Missouri Conservation Commission presented the program for Osage Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, Saturday afternoon.

"We are the trustees of our natural resources," Thorburn said. "We are a comparatively new nation only 180 years old. We see the need of conservation. Think of what our land may look like a thousand years hence."

A very colorful film, "Our Springtime Wild Flowers," was shown. Many of the flowers were recognized, such as the Johnny Jump Ups, spring beauty, dog-tooth violet, anemone, Dutchman's Breeches, blood root, trillium, lady slipper, as well as some of the flowering trees including dogwood, redbud and hawthorn.

A second film, "The Realm of the Wild," featured wildlife as found in the national forests—birds, ducks, geese, squirrels, rabbits, porcupines, prairie dogs, eagles, wolves, bison, deer, elk and moose. Thorburn said nature maintains a balance between the animals and food needed for their survival. Conservation laws assist nature by placing limits and seasons on the amount of wild game hunters may take.

Mrs. Herbert Mason introduced the speaker.

The business meeting was presided over by Mrs. L. H. Hodges, chapter regent, who called attention to the recently published conservation manual dedicated to Mrs. Frederick A. Groves, national president of the DAR.

Reports were made by the delegates who attended the State Conference at Springfield. Mrs. Hodges reported there are 87 DAR chapters in Missouri, with a membership of 5166, and that Osage

Mrs. Rosa Hicks, Route 5, announces the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Anna Mae, to A-2-c Jose Felix Gonzalez, Whiteman Air Force Base, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Gonzalez, New York. The wedding will take place May 18. (Greenwalt photo)

PULITZER PRIZE WINNER "TEAHOUSE of the AUGUST MOON" COMES TO SEDALIA

One of the greatest triumphs of the American stage has been brought to the screen by M-G-M as a captivating motion picture. It is "The Teahouse of the August Moon," the heartwarming and hilarious funny play which had audiences cheering on Broadway, on the road and in some 40 countries all over the world during a record-breaking run of more than three years.

The ingratiating story of the experiences of a shy and uncertain Army captain, who is given the responsibility of rehabilitating a Korean village and is won over to the native point of view, is opening Sunday at the Uptown Theatre. As a play it won the Pulitzer Prize and gave its stars a long string of award-winning citations. As a film it is destined to go down as the most delightful comedy in the history of movie-making, and there should be plenty of prizes in store for Marion Brando, Glenn Ford, Japanese star Machiko Kyo, Eddie Albert and Paul Ford.

Home Agent Visits to Clubs

Extension Club roll calls can be very interesting and educational.

The Spring Fork Busy Doers Extension roll call for their March meeting was on improvements of yards. The discussion was interesting and ideas exchanged by the members were helpful. The club met in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Coffey.

An educational tour was planned by the Sunside Extension Club. The club members will make a visit to the Moniteau Woolen Mills, California, Missouri. A good idea for other clubs. The home of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Berry was the meeting place for their March meeting.

Tour to Columbia

The Home Economics Extension Club Council is planning a tour to Columbia. The date is set for Monday, May 6. More information will be sent to club presidents within the next week.

Young Homemakers Classes

There is still room for more members in the Young Homemakers classes. Any young homemaker under 35 years of age may enroll. See schedule in Date Ahead.

Make It Yourself With Wool

The Make It Yourself With Wool Contest will be held in the fall this year. All 4-H girls enrolled in 4-H Clothing V should plan to enter this event. Also high school girls will want to plan for this contest. Contact the High School Home Economics Teacher and the County Extension office for information.

Choose Vegetables For Their Color

Color is important in the selection of vegetables—that is, if you are depending on vegetables to supply the vitamin A you need. The best vegetable sources of this vitamin are the dark green leafy vegetables (spinach and other cooking "greens"), broccoli, green peppers, and carrots. Other green vegetables which supply smaller amounts include asparagus, snap beans, green cabbage, lettuce, and peas. Tomatoes supply vitamin A as well as considerable amounts of vitamin C. Sweet potatoes and yellow squash are excellent sources of vitamin A, and small amounts are found in wax beans.

Vitamin A is particularly important for the building of your body. It helps maintain the health of the skin and of the lining in your mouth, nose, and other cavities. Vitamin A makes a contribution to vision and a deficiency may lead to night blindness.

Spinach is the "greens" eaten in largest amount in this area. There is a period each spring and fall when fresh spinach is supplied by local growers. At present it is being shipped from winter-growing areas of Texas, and is packaged locally for the retail trade. It is also available canned or frozen.

Collards, mustard, and turnip top greens are also being shipped here from Texas. As a general rule they are not washed, trimmed, and packaged as is spinach, but are bunched and sold by the pound.

The number of servings per pound of fresh "greens" depends on quality. "Greens" marked down because they have been held too long will have high preparation waste and may cost more per serving than the fresher or fresh-frozen product that may cost more per pound.

Vegetables which give the most for the money are those with the most color and those that are fresh or fresh-frozen. It is never economy to buy wilted, half spoiled vegetables no matter how low the price. Preparation waste is too high and most of the vitamin C is lost.

Nearly Ready To Extend Taxes Limit

WASHINGTON (AP)—Only House acceptance of a Senate amendment was needed today to complete action on a bill to extend three billion dollars of annual business taxes to July 1, 1958.

The House was expected to act during the day to accept the 15-month extension voted by the Senate rather than the one-year limit it had passed. The administration has approved the 15-month provision.

President Eisenhower must sign the bill into the law by Sunday or the rates on corporation income and excise taxes will drop automatically Monday.

The Senate passed the bill by voice vote late yesterday after seven hours of debate in which all attempts to add special relief provisions were beaten.

The moves which got the most support were designed to aid small business. Although they lost, advocates of such relief said today they believed the debate had advanced their cause and that some tax benefits for little businessmen might well be enacted this session.

Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala), chairman of the Senate Small Business Committee, told a reporter, "I feel we have made tremendous progress."

Sen. Thyne (R-Minn), senior Republican on the Small Business

Committee, said in a separate interview he had been assured by the White House and Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey an effort would be made to send up some small business relief proposals this year.

The Senate passed a 15-month extension of the taxes so that Congress would have more time to consider the matter in the 1958 session. Eisenhower had asked a years' extension.

The bill continues the top corporation income tax rate at 52 percent, instead of the 47 to which it would drop Monday, and keeps in effect the present excise levies on autos, auto parts and accessories, cigarettes, liquor, wines and beer.

Glee Club Wins Honors At Festival

By Phyllis Aggeler

The Glee Club took top honors at the Marshall Music Festival. The group received a 1 rating on both "Stodola Pompa" and "Bone Jesu." The Glee Club is directed by Sister M. Everlids.

In the girls high voice division Carolyn Moser received a 2 rating. In the girls medium voice division Mary Lou Vickers, Laura Zurwoste, Martha Berlin, and Leah Gunn all received 2 ratings.

The sophomore girls' sextette received a 1 rating. That group is composed of Carolyn Moser, Rose Moriarty, Martha Berlin, Rita Geiser, Carolyn Weinholt, and Gloria Robb.

In the piano division, Rita Geiser received a 1 rating.

The Glee Club, the sextette, and the soloists are now eligible to enter the Warrensburg Music Contest which is to be held on April 6.

The date for the Glee Club's annual Spring Concert has been set for Sunday evening, April 28 in the Sacred Heart auditorium.

There are a number of students who will represent the school at the interscholastic contests at CMSC at Warrensburg. They are: Carolyn Moser, prose reading; Carolyn Saenz, public speaking; Jim Coughig, radio speaking; Sue Keller, shorthand; Phyllis Aggeler, typing; Gerald Horst, bookkeeping; John Martin, Marge Hogan and Martha Berlin, biology; Corinne Jirik and Monte Schreck, chemistry; Gerald Horst and Larry Grinstead, advanced algebra; Tommy Moser and Don Ressel, plane geometry; Mary Beth Staley and Mike Edwards, elementary algebra; and Mary Beth Staley, Susan Bopp and Ruth Ann Bahner, spelling.

Happy Workers Plan A Skating Party

Dr. Coley, Boonville, was the principle speaker at the March meeting of the Happy Workers 4-H Club of Pilot Grove.

Jack Schweitzer led the pledge to the flags and roll was answered with "A bad habit I am trying to overcome in school". Jerry Willenbring led the singing. Demonstrations on courtesy were given by Linda Vernon, Jack Schweitzer, Helen Deuschle, Edwin Deuschle and Del Twenter. Mrs. Virgil Walden was elected to be food preservation leader.

Plans were made for a skating party April 22 and it was decided to invite the Willing Workers Club. Joan Stocklein appointed a committee to make plans for the share the fun meeting at Bunceton. Appointed were Earl Hayes, Judy Kempf, Jack Schweitzer, Kenny Day and Phyllis Korte.

Dr. Coley showed a film on brucellosis and a general discussion followed.

Square dancing was enjoyed following adjournment. Refreshments were served.

Blackwater to Vote On Aldermen, Levy

At the election to be held at Blackwater April 2, two directors are to be elected. The school levy requested is the same as last year. Voting for directors and levy will be held at the school building. Two aldermen are to be elected. For Precinct No. 1, George J. Becker is the candidate and voting will be held at the lumber yard office. Voting in Precinct No. 2, with Fritz Schupp running for alderman, will be held at the Missouri Utilities office. Voting on the constitutional amendment to raise the legislators' salary will be held at the Missouri Utilities office also.

Judges are: at the school, Mitchell Dille and George J. Becker Sr.; in Precinct 1, H. O. Watts and Joe Price; in Precinct 2, Mrs. Fritz Schupp and Mrs. Bill LaBoube; and for constitutional amendment, Mrs. Percy McMahan and Mrs. William T. Bagby Jr.

Camp Branch PTA Holds Monthly Meet

The Camp Branch PTA met Thursday, March 21, at 8 p.m. at the Camp Branch School.

The meeting was brought to order by the president, Mrs. Pete McGirk.

The Quisenberry 4-H Club gave a play entitled, "Sally Takes a Bow."

In the business meeting, it was decided to put up swings on the playground at the Camp Branch School.

After the meeting, refreshments were served by Mrs. Otis Fiedler, and Mrs. George Hunter.

Sergeant Must Use 5 Languages For Unit

CLEVELAND — Five languages are required for the top sergeant of Company A, 107th Armored Cavalry Regiment, to give commands to his troops. Of the 75 members of the National Guard unit, 25 are foreign born and most of these have been in this country only a short time. Commands have been given in German, Polish, Slovenian and English. But Hungarian had to be added last night when two freedom fighters who came to this country in February joined the outfit.

Elvis, Marine Agree 'Toy Pistol' Incident Was Misunderstanding

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — Elvis Presley and an 18-year-old Marine have closed the "toy pistol" incident with the agreement it was all a misunderstanding.

"He thought it was a real gun," explained the teen-agers' rock 'n' roll idol, "and I thought he and his buddy were gonna beat me up."

Presley, 22, and Pfc. Hershel Nixon of St. Louis met Tuesday in the chambers of City Court Judge Beverly Boushe to talk things over. Later they shook hands and said everything was all right.

The singer said he whipped out the Hollywood prop pistol last Friday night when Nixon shouldered through a crowd of autograph-seeking fans. "I thought he was trying to pick a fight," said Presley.

Nixon said he and his buddy weren't hostile. "I just wanted to talk to Elvis," he said.

Firm Observes 25th Year In Concordia

Alewel's Locker Market is observing its 25th year in Concordia. Hugo and Emil Alewel bought their interests from Joe Brackman in 1932. They have always done custom slaughtering and in 1944 constructed a frozen food plant and installed lockers. In 1954 they built a modern state approved slaughterhouse, south of Concordia. At present the company employs eight regular and four part-time employees.

Bird Flees Rescuer

FRESNO, Calif. — Susie Riley's parakeet Jimmy escaped and flew to the top of a power pole . . . and wouldn't budge.

Susie, 10, wept. A Pacific Gas & Electric Co. troubleshooter, Henry Wiley, sympathized: "My kid has a parakeet too. We'd hate to lose him."

Wiley checked the voltage of the line, then hurried over. "It's 12,000 volts," he said, squinting up at the parakeet.

"Don't risk your life for a $2 bird," said Susie's father, F. W. Riley. But Wiley dug his spikes into the pole and started up. The vibrations alerted Jimmy—who flew off and no one saw where.

Find 50 Year Old Germs In Antarctic

SAN DIEGO, Calif. — Lt. Cmdr. Isaac M. Taylor, a Navy medical officer, says tetanus germs left in the antarctic by an explorers' horses 50 years ago were lying dormant on the ground when bacteriologists made soil tests there 14 months ago. Taylor was an Operation Deep Freeze bacteriologist stationed at the Navy air facility on Ross Island in McMurdo Sound, 700 miles north of the pole.

Weather Near Normal
Over Most of Nation;
No Severe Storms

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Early spring weather was nearly normal in most of the nation today.

There were a few wet spots and cloudy skies and a little cool weather in some northern areas. But no severe cold or stormy weather was reported.

Thunderstorms, which rumbled across the Southern Plains yesterday, also diminished as they moved eastward. However, thunderstorms hit areas in eastern Texas during the night. Mostly light showers extended through Arkansas into western Tennessee.

Heaviest falls were more than an inch. A shower belt during the day was indicated from eastern Texas through Alabama.

Advanced to position for passage before the Senate adjourned for the weekend was a bill to establish a new crop experiment station in southeastern Missouri.

It would permit the University of Missouri college of agriculture to set up a permanent experiment station to conduct research on cotton, soybeans, vegetables, the value of irrigation and other agricultural problems in the rich delta area.

Sen. John W. Noble (D) of Kentucky pointed out that the seven cotton growing counties cover only about six per cent of the state's land area but in the five years from 1950-55 produced 26 per cent of all crops in Missouri.

Youths Spend
Months Away
From School

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — While their parents thought they were in school every day, two young boys lived a Huckleberry Finn life for 6½ months "exploring and sitting" and "watching the sky."

The heaven they built for themselves at their "secret" cave was shattered yesterday and they were to be enrolled in school today.

Police discovered Ora Lee Linville, 14, and his brother Jerry, 13, sitting beside a cheery campfire in their cave yesterday morning. The cave, located in a creek bank near Southeast High School, was near a playground.

"We spent the mornings exploring," Ora said. "Then we'd build a camp fire and eat lunch. In the afternoons we'd just sit and watch the sky or the creek until school was out and then we'd go back home."

Sometimes they would hike into the country—if the day was warm. Their mother thought the boys had enrolled in school last September. They admitted it was a touch-and-go situation keeping mom and dad fooled.

"When mother asked for our report cards we told her we had lost them or that the school wouldn't give them to us until we paid a fee," Ora Lee said. The family moved here recently from Chickasha, Okla., and weren't familiar with the grade card system.

He said other things also had to be explained such as not bringing books home or not having any home work.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Linville, said the first time they knew the boys had not been at school was when a police car brought them home.

"They'll be in school tomorrow morning," Linville said.

"Dad gave us a pretty hard talking to when he found out about it," Ora said.

The lads were discovered by officers after neighbors reported seeing them near the cave during school hours.

Plea On Odor Does Not Change Charge

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Mrs. Alberta G. Reed, 58, of nearby Bridgeville, testified in Criminal Court yesterday at her drunken driving trial that she wasn't drunk when two patrolmen stopped her car.

Why, she said, the officers had not smelled liquor on her breath—they smelled a "heavy" coat of nail polish she had applied about an hour before being involved in a minor accident.

The arresting officers were asked to smell a bottle of nail polish and whether it had the odor they sniffed when they arrested Mrs. Reed. Both replied negatively. Mrs. Reed was convicted and fined $200.

She is Martha Hyer, 27, a Fort Worth girl who graduated from Northwestern University at 20 with high honors. She has written magazine stories and collects paintings—has a Utrillo, Renoir, Dufy and two Vlamincks.

But she's no square. Considering her assets, it's no wonder she's on her way to top stardom.

Martha's career has been booming in the past year with leading roles opposite Rock Hudson, Tony Curtis and Van Johnson. Her biggest break comes next month when she leaves for France to co-star with Bob Hope, Fernandel and Anita Ekberg in a 2½-million-dollar epic, "Trouble in Paris."

"Just think—I got Hope, Paris in the spring and 27 dresses by Balmain," she said dreamily.

Her climb to success hasn't all been easy. She arrived here six years ago after graduating from college and enrolled at the Pasadena Playhouse, spawning ground for many a star. Her discovery was a long-distance affair.

Two Area High School Cagers Are All-State Team Selections

Gremlins' Mark Mettler on Class S Team Marshall's Sherard Named to Class L Stars

By D. Kelly Scruton
Sports Editor

Two area basketball stars have been selected by the Missouri Sportswriters Association as members of the All-State Basketball team of their separate divisions. Mark Mettler, Sacred Heart Gremlins, was selected to the Class "S" team while Stew Sherard, Marshall high school Owls, was elected to the Class "L" team. Both boys were sponsored by The Sedalia Democrat-Capital.

Mark needs little introduction to the basketball fans in this area. He has played the game since he was in short pants, and has been out front in his four years of high school at Sacred Heart.

This six-foot-five youngster maintained a 20-point average throughout his school playing, scoring more than 2,000 points during his career. He was considered the floor leader of the Gremlins and spirited the team all the way.

Mark hasn't made any decision as to what his future holds in college. He has been "looking-over" several schools. In fact, he visited St. Benedict College, University of Missouri, and Central Missouri State at Warrensburg. But he'll end up in a school where he can continue to play basketball.

Coach Palmer Nichols, who has tutored Mark and his twin brother Marvin through their high school basketball, had nothing but praise for Mark. "He well deserves the honors he has received," Nichols said.

The Sacred Heart star is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Mettler, 1311 South Montau Avenue.

Stew Sherard was a unanimous choice of the writers at their meeting in Columbia two weeks ago. As classed by one writer, he is the "Gary Thompson" of Missouri schoolboy basketball and was referred to that in the Missouri River Conference.

He stands five-feet-eleven, a senior guard and averaged 30 points a game in leading the Owls to one of their finest seasons. He hit nearly 50-percent of his shots and scored 35 points or more on four occasions. He was Marshall's best hand defensively as well as being the Owls' leading scorer.

Stew is a three-year letterman, president of the Marshall high school student body, and an excellent student besides being an All-Star basketball player.

He was an All-Conference selection in 1936 in his Junior year, as well as repeating this year. Much credit was passed upon him by Coach Woody Gaba, who reported he led the Owls to the Missouri River Valley Conference Championship.

Coach Gaba is remarking about his player and his honors said, "Stew has earned everything he has been awarded through determination. He is a fine boy and I appreciate the honors bestowed upon him by the sports editors. Several schools have already been scouting him and seeking his registration."

Stew is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Sherard, 437 North Bond, in Marshall.

The problem of selection of All-Star teams is difficult, there being so many high schools, all of which have basketball teams. There are hundreds of boys to be screened, and the limitation of ten players to a team made it triple difficult for the editors to make selections. This was proven in the Class "M" division when voting became entangled in ties and it was necessary to round the selections out with 11 players.

A boy must first make his All-State team before being eligible for the All-State, and this in many cases denies some boy who is well deserving.

M. A. (Mose) Shapoff, trainer of thoroughbreds, was a battery for the Indianapolis baseball team 48 years ago.

Thomas Learns Word of Advice Was Accurate

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP)—Frank Thomas once balked at playing third base because he was afraid he'd be killed by a line drive. Now the reformed outfielder finds the so-called hot corner a breeze compared with fly chasing.

"A fellow once told me all you have to have to become a good third baseman is a strong arm, a stout chest and lots of guts," Pittsburgh's third baseman of exactly 111 games said. "I'm beginning to believe it. All three have come in handy thus far."

Thomas has been surprisingly proficient since he made the big switch, at Manager Bobby Bragan's insistence, last May. Besides a strong arm, he is agile for a big fellow, gets a good jump on the ball, covers the necessary ground and comes in well on a slow-hit ball. There never was any question about his hitting.

"I practice every chance I get," Thomas explained. "I come out to the park early and have fellows hit to me for half an hour every day. I gained some experience last year but I know I've still got lots to learn. I don't want to be a good third baseman. I want to be a great one."

"Frank's new attitude has been the most pleasant surprise in camp," said Bragan. "I've never seen him work so hard. He's pepped up the entire club."

General Run Of TV Themes Is Monotonous

NEW YORK (U)—The principal themes of recent television drama have become crime and Westerns, with the general subject of show business running third. It's getting monotonous.

Let's take a look at this current week. Ignore the regular Western dramas, the specialists in crime, and all half-hour programs. Confining ourselves to the 11 regular evening drama programs of an hour or more on the three networks, we find that six this week concerns themes of crime.

Of these six, three make use of Western backgrounds. (Or, you can say that three Westerns make use of crime.) Show business drama is unusually quiet this week, being represented only once (on Aluminum Hour, NBC, Tuesday).

The themes of the remaining four are not extraordinary, but they're downright refreshing by comparison.

On Sunday TV Playhouse (NBC) presented a romantic love drama—a theme, incidentally, that seldom spills over from daytime soap opera onto the evening screen.

Robert Montgomery (NBC, Mondays) presented an excellent

"factual" about the ditching of an airliner in the Pacific. Studio One (CBS, Mondays) offered a drama of family relationships.

Tonight Playhouse 90 (CBS) will present the comedy "Charley's Aunt." It's surprising if anyone in the country has failed to see this one by this time, but such is the state of TV drama in the current week that even "Charley's Aunt" looks fresh in comparison to the average offering.

It's obviously unfair to try to judge dramas solely on the basis of themes without regard to performances. So this is not an attempt to pass critical judgment on any of the 11. It is simply the groan of a viewer who has grown tired of crime and Westerns—and dramas about show business.

Police Rout Thieves Attempting to Take Wagon Load of Scrap

PHILADELPHIA (U)—Ten police cars sped to Good Will Industries of Philadelphia early yesterday and their occupants were just in time to see two men vault a fence, scramble over rooftops and hot-foot it down some railroad tracks.

The thwarted burglars left behind a lazy cocoa-brown horse hitched to an old milk wagon fitted with auto tires. The wagon was loaded with scrap iron, two old washing machines and a batch of other material collected by Good Will, a welfare organization specializing in the employment of clothes and repair furniture, appliances and the like.

A stableman said horse and wagon had been rented the day before and taken out at 5:30 a.m. Police said there was no trace of the two men who got away.

Says American Men Are Too Domestic

LOS ANGELES (U)—American men have become too family conscious for their own good; they are losing their spirit of adventure, says anthropologist Margaret Mead.

This "retirement into domesticity" is a dangerous thing for the country, Dr. Mead told a luncheon club.

"The number of things men with families can't do," he said, "is going up every day."

Too many talented young professional men turn down better jobs which involve moving to another city because such moves would inconvenience the lives of their children, she said.

Science has perfected optical glass with such clarity that a book at one end of a 10-foot bar of optical glass can be read from the other end.

LOS ANGELES (U)—Birdseed on the kitchen floor was the reef on which their marriage foundered, says Mrs. Beverly Jurman, 29.

She was awarded a divorce from William Jurman 35, a chiropractor, after telling the judge: "He went into a great rage and yelled until 2 a.m. because our baby lovebirds scattered seed on the kitchen floor. He finally kicked me out of bed and telephoned my father."

"If the birds could talk, they would certainly have been good witnesses, but they were just babies."

100 Pontiacs FREE!

TO PROVE TO YOU WHAT THE EXPERTS ALREADY KNOW ABOUT AMERICA'S NUMBER ① ROAD CAR!

Drive the Champ!

First the automotive writers said, "Keep your eye on Pontiac... this one's a sleeper!" Then the California Highway Patrol chose Pontiac after three days of grueling competitive tests of six of America's top performers. Next, in the top stock car event of the year, NASCAR's 160-mile Daytona Grand National, Pontiac outperformed everything on the beach including super-charged and fuel injection cars!

NOW IT'S YOUR TURN—Slip into that roomy driver's seat. Gently nudge the accelerator and feel Pontiac's barrel-chested 347 cu. in. Strato-Streak V-8 go into action. Put its instant response and Precision-Touch Control to a traffic test. Choose your own rough stretch and feel it disappear under Pontiac's Level-Line Ride. Then head for the open road and give that deep-breathing power plant a chance to show its mettle in the fresh open air. Man—you've got a champ on your hands for sure! And to make it even more fun—there's a chance to win a free Pontiac! Just follow the instructions at the right—you may be a winning driver!

HERE'S ALL YOU DO!

Should Once Insane Man Be Executed?

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP)—Paul Barbata isn't crazy. He hasn't been crazy for almost 13 years now. But if he's released from the state mental hospital at Fulton, Mo., a death sentence hangs over his head. Is the sentence still legal?

Gov. James T. Blair said yesterday he has attorneys working on the strange legal tangle.

Dr. Alfred P. Baur, superintendent of the hospital, brought up the matter by suggesting Barbata be returned to the penitentiary.

The trouble is Barbata has never been in the penitentiary. At the time he was sentenced to hang for one of the three St. Louis murders of which he was accused in 1933 it was the job of the St. Louis sheriff to carry out the execution.

Barbata was spared the noose when a former governor decided he was insane and ordered he be sent to the mental hospital until "restored to reason."

While Barbata has been in the hospital, the job of executing death sentences has been transferred by law to the state penitentiary and the gas chamber has replaced hanging.

Dr. Baur reported Barbata has been considered normal since 1944. He can circulate around the hospital grounds. He has made visits to St. Louis. He has operated the hospital canteen. He has helped doctors in the infirmary. He has saved the lives of several attendants when they were attacked by patients.

Barbata is 55 now and his most recent mental examination showed he has no delusions or hallucinations and is not psychotic. The hospital has recommended to two previous governors that Barbata be released. They didn't act.

The University of Texas executive development program, a section of the College of Business Administration, is conducted on the Bar K Guest Ranch.

Investigators Hunt Details In Beck Case

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate racks prober turned today from public to private checking into their charge that Teamster President Dave Beck misappropriated $320,000 of union funds.

While Beck headed homeward to Seattle, Senate staff investigators dug for details that he had refused to provide on grounds his answers might tend to incriminate him.

Beck, head of the nation's biggest labor union, left the witness stand yesterday a wilted Fifth Amendment witness facing possible contempt of Congress action.

"We are not through with Mr. Beck," Chairman McClellan (D-Ark.) of the special Senate committee conducting the inquiry told reporters. "He will be a matter of continuing interest to the committee and further testimony may be desired."

McClellan recessed the hearings indefinitely yesterday after accusing Beck of "flagrant... disrespect for honest unionism," "arrogant contempt" for members of his Teamsters Union and "utter contempt for the committee."

Beck declined comment on McClellan's tongue lashing.

He told the committee "I'll be able to come out of this clean and white 100 per cent" if he gets a chance to testify in a court. He said he expects to do so because of his income tax troubles with the Internal Revenue Service.

Beck said he would not attend a meeting of the AFL-CIO Executive Council, which has been called Friday to consider his repeated use of the Fifth Amendment's protection against self-incrimination. A code of ethics adopted by the council early this year calls for expulsion of any labor official who uses the amendment to avoid answering questions about union affairs.

McClellan announced he expects about a two-week recess before the committee resumes hearings.

Baked Fish Makes Lenten Meal

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Recent requests for a fish dish elegant enough to serve to guests inspired the testing of the following recipe. It calls for a whole fish to be stuffed with a savory mixture of bread crumbs, shrimp, olive oil, onion and other seasonings. The fish looks sumptuous when arranged on a platter with a garnish of lemon and extra shrimp plus any suitable vegetables you have on hand—cucumber or carrot slices, water cress or parsley.

Because this recipe is of Spanish origin, the stuffing calls for olive oil—an ingredient Spaniards use with a lavish hand. Then during baking the fish is brushed with a mixture of the oil and lemon juice.

Spaniards usually eat their main meal in the middle of the day, and so this baked stuffed fish would probably appear at noon on one of their menus. Serve it sometime for a Sunday one o'clock dinner as a change from the usual roast meat or poultry. Or serve it for supper during Lent or on a Friday any time of the year.

The recipe from which this one was adapted suggested sea bream as the fish. We used a beautiful striped bass; you may, of course, substitute any locally available fish suitable for baking. Just make sure it is fresh and firm. And we beg you not to have the fish decapitated at the fish market; it looks most elegant—when it is brought to the table for carving—with both the head and the tail left on.

If you want a real Spanish way of presenting the baked fish on its platter, ignore our previous garnishing suggestion. Instead surround the two long sides of the fish with pale yellow-green escarole leaves; insert a feathery frond of dill or fennel into the baked fish's mouth so part of the spray shows; arrange strips of scarlet pimiento on top of the fish.

STUFFED FISH MATADOR

Ingredient: One 3½ pound whole fish, ¼ pound shrimp, ¼ cup olive oil, 1 medium-sized onion (finely chopped), 1-3 cup finely chopped celery, 1 clove garlic (minced), 1 cup fine dry bread crumbs, ¼ cup finely chopped green pepper, ¼ cup minced parsley, ¼ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ¼ teaspoon dried crumbled thyme, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg, lemon juice, extra olive oil, garnishes.

Method: Have fish market clean fish and remove back bone and as many of the other bones as possible; have head and tail left on. Cook shrimp, shell and devein. Dice shrimp fairly fine—there should be 1 cup lightly packed. Heat olive oil in 9 or 10-inch skillet over low heat; add shrimp, onion, celery and garlic; cook, stirring occasionally, until onion is transparent. Stir in bread crumbs, green pepper, parsley, salt, pepper, thyme and nutmeg. (Taste and add more salt if necessary.) Lay fish open flat. Spread stuffing over inside of fish; if there seems too much, stuff the head with some of it. With a large darning needle and heavy white thread (or ordinary white nylon thread) sew up fish. Line bottom and sides of a baking pan with foil; a medium-sized rectangular roasting pan is fine. Rub foil with olive oil. Arrange fish on foil in pan. Mix a little lemon juice and olive oil together; brush fish with it. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 40 minutes or until fish flakes easily. Dribble fish with oil-lemon juice mixture occasionally. Foil may be used to help lift fish from pan to platter; remove foil; wipe platter clean. Garnish with lemon slices or wedges, cucumber or carrot slices and cooked shrimp if desired. Makes 4 large servings; if a half-pound of cooked shrimp is used for the garnish, you can count on having enough fish for 6 servings.

Billingsley,
Briscoe Seek School Posts

L. W. Billingsley and Jim Briscoe, Tipton, have placed their announcements as candidates to succeed themselves as members of the Board of Education of Monticau District R-VI. Billingsley is now president of the board.

Each director is to be elected for a term of three years.

Holdover directors are Paul Miller, Toby Lademann, Ray Homan, of Fortuna, and Leonard Stahl, of Syracuse.

A. S. Hays is secretary, and O. J. Stratman is treasurer of the board, their offices being appointive. Also at the school election Tuesday, April 2, the district will vote on annexing approximately 120 acres from the Morgan County district and the usual tax levy of $1.95 per $100 assessed valuation will be voted on.

Those announcing as candidates in the city election on the same date are O. J. Stratman and A. L. Brow for mayor; Claud Howard for alderman, east ward; John W. (Bill) Moss and Albert H. Wolf, for alderman, west ward; Orville Arnold and Calvin Scheerer, for marshal-collector.

Claud Howard, John W. (Bill) Moss and Orville Arnold are candidates for re-election.

All city offices are for two-year terms.

The present mayor, Virgil R. Helms, is not a candidate for re-election.

Those voting in the school election will cast their ballots at the three school buildings in the district, Fortuna, Syracuse and Tipton, while those voting in the city election will vote at the city hall where also on Tuesday, April 2, there will be held a special election on proposed Constitutional Amendment No. 1, which has to do with increasing the pay to legislators.

Music Fan
PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—William B. McKesson, district attorney of Los Angeles County, appeared for a quiz session before a panel of teen-agers. He was asked if he thought rock 'n' roll should be outlawed and gave this answer:

"No. Personally I don't 'dig' it, but that doesn't mean that I would want to ban it. There are good and bad elements in our current music. I believe that most teen-agers are wise enough not to carry the bad elements to excess."

State Director
Is Speaker
For Teachers

Miss Louise Phillips, National Education Association Director for the State of Missouri, was the speaker at the meeting Saturday morning, March 23, of the Sedalia Community Teachers held at the Little Theatre, Smith-Cotton High School.

Miss Phillips chose as her subject: "The Proposed Expanding Program of National Education Association." She pointed out that this program would include more planning, more effort, more staff and more funds for the following activities: 1. general field service; 2. consultation on welfare problems; 3. federal legislation; 4. contacts with national organizations of laymen; 5. professional standards and development; 6. public relations; 7. research; 8. media of communications, especially television, and 9. business management.

Also, Miss Phillips reviewed the many services that had been given but stressed the new expanded program was necessary for a good educational program.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Mabel Howe, program chairman.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Estelle Ellis, president.

Mrs. Carl Schrader, music chairman, introduced Miss Shirley Kirkpatrick, a former student of Smith-Cotton, now a junior at Central Missouri State College, Warrensburg, who sang two selections in her usual pleasing manner. She was accompanied by Mrs. Jean Luchs.

Ralph VanDerKamp, chairman of Life Membership of NEG, reported 43 members and stated a picture of the group would soon appear in the School and Community publication.

Miss Mary Maddox, chairman of the nominating committee, gave the committee report of officers for next year and it will be voted on at the next meeting.

Mrs. Mary Ella Hausam, chairman of the social committee, announced the date of the next meeting had been changed to Thursday, April 4, which will be a birthday party and banquet in celebration of the NEA centennial.

Mrs. Patty Lane, chairman of legislation, reported that bill No. 34 had not passed the Senate. Mrs. Lane requested that the group go on record as endorsing amendment No. 1, which would pay legislators a monthly salary of $300 and mileage traveled for one round trip per week from their homes to attend sessions. This motion was made and carried.

The executive committee recommended that a collection be taken to be given to the AAUW for the foreign student fund which was done.

A vote was also taken on whether the teacher would attend the district meeting in Warrensburg or the state meeting in St. Louis, and it was voted to attend the state meeting.

WAFB Sergeant Sets Base Record On Maintenance

Staff Sergeant Morris L. Brown, Crew Chief in the 487th Bomb Squadron, Whiteman Air Force Base, has recently established a base record with the aircraft he maintains for consecutive B-47 takeoffs without an abortion, the flight line term for equipment malfunction.

His record now stands at 67 successful on-time take-offs and every-time B-47 No. 2093 takes off these days the record is upped another notch. Brown has been Crew Chief of the aircraft ever since it was delivered to Whiteman from the Inspection and Repair Depot a year ago. He started the record in March 1956 with the help of his assistant, A-1c John Probey, who was discharged last month.

When asked what he thought was the secret of his success, Sgt. Brown was too modest to reply, but Lt. Richard G. Miller, Squadron Engineering Officer, supplied the answer for him. Lt. Miller said Brown's success is due to plain hard work and good planning. Miller went on to say that the crews who have flown Brown's aircraft have always had complete confidence it was "ready to go" when Brown gave it the "okay".

Sergeant Brown, whose home is New Castle, Ind., entered the Air Force at Sampson AFB, N. Y., in 1953. After completing basic training, he attended the Jet Aircraft Mechanics school at Amarillo, Tex. before coming to Whiteman in Dec. 1953.

The Sergeant is married and he and his wife, Joan, presently live in Sedalia.

Property Exchanges Hands at Green Ridge

There have been several real estate transactions in the Green Ridge community recently. Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Ryan have purchased the 240 acre farm southeast of town where Mr. and Mrs. Robert Upton are now residing, formerly owned by George Weller.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Tucker have purchased the A. R. Apperson farm southeast of Green Ridge and will move there soon to reside.

Mrs. Perdita Gregory has sold the farm southeast of town. C. A. Wisdom bought 160 acres of unimproved land from this acreage. The improved part of the farm going to another buyer.

C. R. Stoddard bought 80 acres of land adjoining his farm on the east.

Hubbard PTA Has Regular Meeting

Hubbard PTA recently held their monthly meeting. Routine business was transacted after which a slate of officers were presented to be voted on at a later meeting. The PTA was asked to have charge of refreshments to be sold at the Invitational Basketball Tournament. The movie to be shown at the meeting was postponed.

Mrs. Evelyn Cox, president, served refreshments.

To Men Who Serve Mankind

By proclamation of Governor James T. Blair, Saturday, March 30 will be observed as Doctor's Day throughout Missouri.

Many communities will join in expressing appreciation and gratitude to this professional group. Particularly will Sedalia do so because of the personal interest of an active group—the medical auxiliary, and also Mrs. J. W. Boger who is state chairman for Doctor's Day. She and the president of the Missouri Medical Auxiliary, Mrs. Charles T. Sheppard, St. Louis county, recently witnessed signing of the Doctor's Day proclamation by Missouri's governor.

Doctor's Day is a salute to men of one of the most respected professions, physicians who are an intimate part of the nation's family life. These men spend many years in medical schools and internship, dedicating themselves to the practice of medicine and the long hours and arduous tasks required.

When the young medic has his final degree, he enters the profession with a solemn promise which becomes a guide in his mind and heart. That promise is the Hippocratic oath.

Upon this oath rests much of the success or failure of the physician.

Many have heard of this great human document, but for those not familiar with it, the Hippocratic oath to which every physician swears is herewith reproduced:

"I do solemnly swear by that which I hold most sacred:

"That I will be loyal to the profession of medicine and just and generous to its members:

"That I will hold my life and practice my art in uprightness and honor:

"That into whatsoever house I shall enter, it shall be for the good of the sick to the utmost of my power, I holding myself aloof from wrong, from corruption, from the tempting of others to vice;

"That I will exercise my art solely for the cure of my patients, and will give no drug, perform no operation for criminal purposes, even if solicited, far less suggest it;

"That whatsoever I shall see or hear of the lives of men which is not fitting to be spoken, I will keep inviolably secret.

"These things I do promise and in proportion as I am faithful to this my oath may happiness and good repute be ever mine—the opposite if I shall be forsworn."

This oath probably originated with Hippocrates about 400 B.C. The original in Greek has been subject to many revisions. The above version was made by the late Professor John G. Curtis, of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, and is a fairly close paraphrase of the Greek. In this form it is administered at each commencement of the candidates for the degree of Doctor of Medicine at medical colleges and universities.

Hoffa Investigation Was Stopped Cold

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—One of the most significant backstage developments in the Teamster probe is that scandalous facts had been unearthed regarding Teamster czar Jimmy Hoffa by the House Government Operations Committee in the early days of the Eisenhower administration. Then suddenly the probe was stopped.

Postmaster General Summerfield says he didn't stop it. The Republicans at that time controlled Congress. They stopped the probe. The individual GOP congressmen in charge of the probe didn't want to stop it, complained bitterly and publicly about the stoppage. But they were stopped anyway.

Here is what they had discovered at the time they were stopped.

Jimmy Hoffa, together with the Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, placed almost $20,000,000 of welfare funds with the Union Insurance Agency, Inc. between 1948-52. The partners operating this agency were Rose and Allen Dorfman, wife and son of Hoffa's intimate friend Paul Dorfman, who in turn is boss of the Waste Material Handlers Union in Chicago.

The insurance agency, in turn, placed its business with the Union Casualty Co. and the Union Public Service Co., organized by Leo Perlman, a refugee from Hitler, whose business, thanks largely to the Teamsters' welfare funds, mushroomed overnight.

His companies, in turn, paid Rose and Allen Dorfman and their agency "in excess of $1,000,000" in "commissions and service fees between October 1949 and June 30, 1953," according to the official finding of the House committee headed by Congressman Clare Hoffman, Michigan Republican.

"It was disclosed that approximately $101,000 in checks payable to Allen Dorfman were not deposited to the agency's bank accounts," the committee also reported.

When the congressmen asked Dorfman if he had paid this or any part of it to Jimmy Hoffa, he refused to answer. Time after time he pleaded the 5th amendment.

It was also disclosed that Perlman's insurance company made fees of $1,200,000 from the Teamsters' and Brotherhood of Electrical Workers' welfare funds. These were funds which individual dues-paying members in Michigan and the Central States had entrusted with Hoffa and with the IBEW for investment.

But suddenly, as the congressional committee was striking pay dirt, its operations were mysteriously and abruptly suspended. Said committee counsel William F. McKenna: "We were silenced before we could make public certain important financial-legal aspects of the Teamsters' operations."

Note—All this was known as early as 1953, yet no action was taken to suspend Dorfman's Waste Material Handlers local charter in Chicago.

Texas Senator's Insurance Co.

While the public is watching next week's special Senate election in Texas, the temporary senator from Texas has been using his position to try to block an investigation into his private insurance business. He is William Blakley, appointed by outgoing Gov. Allan Shivers last January to keep the Texas seat warm until the April election.

Blakley is a soft-spoken Eisenhower Democrat who owns millions in real estate and professes no political ambitions beyond his three-month Senate term. He has behaved like a model stopgap senator, keeping discreetly in the background—with one curious exception. His only significant act has been to harass the Federal Trade Commission over its insurance investigations.

What makes this interesting is that Blakley's own company is under investigation as one of the worst alleged violators. In fact, Blakley personally was named a defendant because of his past habit of dissolving corporations that got in trouble.

Blakley is chairman of the Girardian Insurance Company, which the Trade Commission alleges has been using phony advertising to sell insurance policies. The company deliberately misled policyholders into believing they were entitled to insurance benefits that the fine print in the contract didn't allow, according to the FTC.

"Any examination of Girardian's advertising when contrasted with the actual terms of the policies," charges the FTC, "can lead only to the conclusion that the advertising is false, deceptive, and misleading."

Senator's Two Companies

Senator Blakley's company was found to be operating out of the back room of another insurance firm, Girard Life Insurance Company, which Blakley also owns. To prevent him from avoiding personal responsibility, the FTC took the unusual step of making the senator personally liable.

Before he ever came to the Senate, Blakley had brought indirect pressure on the FTC through such powerful fellow Texans as Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson.

Once Blakley became a senator himself, however, he didn't go through friends. He used the full power of his temporary office to attack the agency that had been investigating him. His most brazen act was to take over the cross-examination of Edward Tait, when he came before the Senate Commerce Committee for confirmation to the FTC.

Usually a new senator, particularly one serving only a three-month term, does not butt into a hearing. He is supposed to keep quiet and let his seniors do the questioning.

But Blakley waded into Tait with a barrage of questions and criticism. He challenged the FTC's jurisdiction over insurance cases and accused the FTC of "acting as judge, jury, and prosecutor." He charged that the FTC had the idea only its own staff was "competent" to decide whether advertising was deceptive.

Fellow senators were startled at Blakley's unexpected attack. But they didn't know what was behind it. Blakley never bothered to explain that he was a defendant in one of the two insurance cases he was complaining about.

His case is still pending before the FTC.

Beck Talked Much and Said Very Little

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—For a man who tried to make like a clam, Dave Beck made a lot of noise. He ducked behind the Fifth Amendment to keep his mouth shut but insisted on keeping it open the better part of two days.

The result: the roundish president of the Teamsters Union talked more and said less than any man in recent memory. But, except for raising questions about what he wouldn't tell, Beck managed to tell a Senate investigating committee very little.

A witness before such a committee can rightfully use the Fifth Amendment to refuse answers to questions only if he thinks his replies might tend to incriminate him. Did Beck think his answers might tend to incriminate him? "Definitely," he said.

But where another witness might mumble the amendment and shut up, Beck persisted on making a long statement, the same one over and over, bringing in not only the Fifth Amendment but also the Fourth Amendment dealing with search and seizure, the first three articles of the Constitution which establish the legislative, executive and judicial branches of government, the committee's authority, and the relevancy of the questions it asked.

Can he get away with his almost blanket refusal to cooperate with the committee which is investigating his handling of union funds? Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.), committee chairman, isn't sure and says he will find out.

A man cited by Congress for contempt in refusing to answer questions can, if tried and convicted in federal court, be fined and jailed for a year.

Ordinarily a witness using the Fifth Amendment can't be cited for contempt. But if he tries to choose what question to answer, and what to ignore by using the amendment, he gets on ticklish ground.

Beck did not follow his own rule of no answers 100 per cent. For example: He volunteered the information his union had authorized a 1½-million-dollar loan to the Fruehauf Trailer Corp. which, he said, paid it back in 14 months.

But when committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy asked Beck if he himself had ever received money directly or indirectly from Fruehauf, Beck took the Fifth Amendment. Kennedy then asked this double-barreled one:

Was Beck in trouble with the income tax people in 1954 because he had taken $320,000 from the union in the past? And had Beck gone to Fruehauf for $200,000 which he turned over to the union? Beck took the Fifth Amendment.

It is a violation of federal law—the Taft-Hartley Act—for an employer to give money to a representative of any of his employees or for such a representative to accept money from such an employer.

There is no such charge against Beck now. There is no charge against him by the income tax people. In fact, there is no charge of any kind against him at this moment. Beck says he'll come out of all this "clean and white."

But McClellan told Beck "evidence has been developed that you have misappropriated funds" from the union. If so, it would not be a violation of any federal law since there is no federal law covering such an offense.

If there was such an offense, and it could be proved, the only action which could be taken against Beck would have to come under state law, on some such charge as larceny.

Parents Can Teach Speech To Their Children Better

By LEON K. WHITNEY
Speech Therapist, Crippled Children's Center

In most schools 70 per cent is a passing mark. Ninety per cent merits a B or an A grade. Parents have achieved this high mark in their success in giving their children good speech for about 90 per cent of children acquire good speech in the home. The give and take of family living is a natural situation for learning to talk. Can parents (or uncles and aunts, or grandparents, or foster parents) become even better speech teachers if we discuss with them some of the underlying principles of the speech development of children? Shall we give it a try, parents?

Some children are so slow in learning to talk that they have their parents wondering if they will ever learn. If we can understand some of the reasons why they are so slow, perhaps we can help them more intelligently. For those parents who have been suspecting that the child takes after the other side of the house in intelligence, let us hasten to say that some of the more intelligent are among the slow learners in speech. The correlation between speech development and intelligence is not very high. More likely causes are: defective hearing; emotional disturbances; cleft palates; cerebral palsy; or other muscular involvement; and inadequate or improper stimulation.

Basic Point
Since the last named is by far the most common cause for delayed and/or defective speech, that subject will be discussed first. Let us begin by making a point that is basic to all later ones. It is a principle that must underlie every effort of parents to help their children with speech. It has priority over every other consideration and must never be lost sight of. The principle is this: Speech grows out of anticipated pleasure from speaking. An infant's babbling is largely an instinctive response to the need to exercise muscles. Using the muscles for speech is not just a form of exercise. Its purpose is to communicate. It grows out of a need for the child to satisfy desires that only others can satisfy. It becomes a way to establish pleasure-giving relations with others. If there is no anticipation by the child that speaking will give pleasure, there is likely to be inadequate motivation to attempt speech. Anger can be expressed without speech. Pleasure-giving communication needs speech. It is of first importance, therefore, that parents seek to stimulate this anticipation of pleasure, and to avoid action that will be likely to lessen the anticipation when it is present.

Activities that will stimulate this anticipation need to begin long before the child is old enough to talk. One of the first ways for the child to get an impression that talking is fun is from hearing and watching other people while they talk. Of course the small child doesn't say to himself, "Gee! They're having fun doing that. I must learn it." But over the weeks and the months, in a talking family, he will be stimulated to try himself to talk. There are silent families in which there is little talking. Silence will not stimulate anticipated pleasure from talking. There are families in which much of the talking is bickering. A child does not anticipate fun from that. There are a few people who insist on doing all of the talking, "elbowing" others out of the conversation by constantly butting in. A child is not likely to try to get a word in even edgewise. If parents are to be good speech teachers, they must adjust their family conversation so that it will seem to the child that it is fun to talk.

Talk to Infant

Another way to stimulate the child to want to talk is to do much talking to, and reading to, the child. This cannot wait until the child is old enough to understand or to want to respond. This must begin in early infancy, so that, through the weeks and months there is accumulating in the child an understanding of what speech is like, and a desire to get in on the fun at the earliest possible age. This is talking to the child. There should be nothing in the attitude of the speaker that indicates to the child that he is expected to respond. Its purpose is long-range, looking toward an ultimate desire developing naturally, without pressure from outside. Urging him to respond before he feels an urge to do so may delay his wanting to. Of course, any speech-like response from the child during these stimulation sessions should be responded to as if it were intelligible speech. Such response will give pleasure to the child, and encourage him to "speak" again. Failure to respond is likely to give

Air Force Marksmanship Off In Aim at Student Bodies

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON—It's an old saw that when a government information agency sticks to straight news, it does all right. But when it tries to shape public opinion, it gets into trouble.

The U.S. Air Force offers the latest example of this verity.

A little over a year ago, some genius in the community relations department dreamed up a brainstorm which became known as "Operation Hometown."

The idea was that Air Force officers and technicians should be sent back to the high schools they were graduated from to give inspirational talks to student bodies.

The theme was to be the need for youngsters to stay in school and complete their education. Then they were to be urged to go on to college and get still more education. In this way they would contribute most to their nation's needs for more advanced scientific and engineering personnel.

It was emphasized that Operation Hometown was not to be a mere recruiting drive. But Air Force generals naturally hoped to reap a late harvest on their ideological planting.

If more high school graduates took more advanced scientific training, there would be more such talent for the Air Force to recruit. And there would be more technical brains for aircraft makers to put in their factories and laboratories.

So last year the Air Force lined up 600 of its officers to go back where they came from and say a good word for higher education.

The big effort was to plant these speakers at commencement exercises. But only 38 landed this choice spot. Sixty-five were booked for ordinary auditorium assemblies.

The bitter blow was that 78 alumni were refused invitations to speak at their alma maters. And over 400 offers of speakers never received an answer. The educators apparently couldn't have cared less about having their students indoctrinated.

Undaunted, the Air Force came back this year to hit 'em again, but harder. Over 1,500 officers had their cards pulled in a master file screening. They were tabbed for assignment—at government expense—for Operation Hometown speeches, come June commencement week.

The results of this carefully planned, mass brain-bombing have so far been an almost complete miss. Letter after letter has come back to Brig. Gen. Andrew J. Kinney, chief of A.F. information services, saying that high school principals didn't want their students talked to by armed service officers.

The school officials say that through local draft boards and nearby military post commanders, they're giving their students all the information they need about their military obligations. And they don't want propaganda, thank you. To a degree, this rebuff is about what Air Force Chief of Staff Gen. Nathan F. Twining had been given previously. In a big-hearted gesture, he offered to make Air Force scientists available for part-time teaching where there were faculty vacancies during the teacher shortage. The offer was refused everywhere.

The reason given by college, university and high school officials was that the Air Force scientists weren't trained as educators. And military instruction wasn't wanted.

To the Air Force generals and the field officers running Operation Hometown, these rejections are considered unkind cuts. They feel that they have been greatly misunderstood by the civilian school officials. They would like a better reception—not for recruiting, they repeat—but for education.

At the present time, nearly 40 per cent of Air Force officers and one per cent of the airmen are college grads. Almost 1,000 hold masters' degrees and nearly 500 hold doctorates. The Air Force feels it could use still more degree holders.

him a feeling of being ignored, crowded out.

The child who does not have these kinds of stimulation long before he is ready to talk is likely to be among those who are slow in starting to talk, and may, from inadequate motivation, carelessly acquire speech defects.

Lillian Roth Decides to Quit Night Club World for Other

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—At 46, Lillian Roth, who made one of the great-est comebacks in the history of show business, is saying goodbye to the night club world.

But she isn't quitting so she can retire to a rocking chair. She simply wants to branch out into two new careers—as a lecturer and newspaper columnist.

The dark-eyed movie and musical comedy star, who became a top entertainer again after a losing 16-year bout with the bottle, said a three-week engagement next month at the Sahara in Las Vegas would be her last in the night club field.

"I'm grateful to the night clubs," she said. "They've been wonderful to me. They've paid me up to $10,000 a week, more than I earned in the old days."

"But it is no way to live permanently. I've been singing since I was 15, and since 1951 I've sung more than 50,000 songs."

Progressive Club Meets With Mrs. Day

"Health" was the lesson given by Mrs. D. O. Young at the Progressive Club meeting at the home of Mrs. Ralph Day. Mrs. Ralph Hodges was co-hostess.

Mrs. E. H. Jefferies joined the club. Work was done on cancer dressings. Mrs. Mary Brown of Prairie Village, Kan., was a guest.

The April meeting will be with Mrs. Benton Ball.

Myers Visit Parents

Mr. and Mrs. Byron Myers and daughter, Nancy, of Los Angeles, Calif. who spent ten days in Green Ridge visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Stark and Mrs. Dixie Myers, have returned to their home in California.

While here they were also guests of Mrs. Myers' brother, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Stark and sons, Dan and Jon.

"I'm 46 now, feel better than I did at 36, but if—God willing—I have a few years left, I'd like to spend them living another kind of life."

It doesn't promise to be any more restful, but she says she isn't looking for a rest.

"I have a lot to do and learn," she said. "After all, I wasted 16 years before I found God was the crutch that alcohol wasn't."

Her plans for the future make Miss Roth sound like a one-woman empire. She is completing another book, "Beyond My Worth," a sequel to her best-selling "I'll Cry Tomorrow."

She also has signed to write a syndicated column three times a week in which she will answer the problems of readers. She is nearly set for 10 weeks of summer stock in the stage version of "Mildred Pierce." And in the fall she starts a nationwide lecture tour.

The lectures will be on the inspirational side, based on her philosophy that "Sorrow is the common denominator that brings all people together. There is no one who hasn't known sorrow, and no one who can't smile later."

She knows the road back by the feel of all the rocks along the way. She took her last drink of booze on June 28, 1946, but it wasn't until 1951 that she could really face an audience again.

Even after she did regain her voice and confidence, theatrical agents tended to regard her as "a hit-and-run freak." One told her to her face: "You're too old for a comeback."

Lillian often visits prisons, corresponds with many prisoners who hope to find a way back to respectability.

"People used to cry when they met me because of their sympathy for my problem. Now, instead, they cry over their own problems," she said.

"I've become their ear to bend. And that is a wonderful feeling—to give sympathy, instead of needing it yourself."

New Salad Features Blue Cheese

BLUE CHEESE adds substance to Lenten vegetable salads.

Associated Press Food Editor

Here's one of the best salad tricks of the year. And it all came about because one recipe borrows from another.

This is how it started. Know that salad, probably originating in California, that includes garlic-flavored croutons? The crunchy tidbits are delicious but it takes some time to lice the bread for them and then brown it in oil.

So one day when we had toasted a batch of those bite-sized shredded rice cereal squares in butter and seasoned them with garlic powder to serve as first-course nibbles we held back. Instead we tossed them into a salad. Our eaters liked the innovation and we've been using them this way ever since.

The rice tidbits are particularly delicious in a salad made up of romaine, fresh young spinach leaves, thinly sliced radishes and blue cheese tossed with a dressing of oil, vinegar, salt, pepper and paprika. They're also good in a salad of greens, cucumber, scallions (green onions) and green pepper with blue cheese and an oil-vinegar dressing. If you want to serve tomatoes with these salads, offer them as a separate accompaniment.

1957 TOSSED SALAD

Ingredients: 2 quarts torn romaine (packed down well), 1 pint torn spinach leaves (packed down lightly), 1 cup thinly sliced radishes, 1/4 pound (1/4 cup firmly-packed) blue cheese, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1 cup bite-sized shredded-rice cereal squares, garlic powder, French dressing, salt, pepper.

Method: Have romaine and you fresh spinach washed, dried and crisped in the refrigerator before tearing into the pieces of a size that can be picked up easily with a fork. Turn romaine and spinach into a big salad bowl. There should be just enough spinach to give a dark green accent to the lighter colored romaine leaves. Sprinkle with radishes and finely-cut blue cheese. Cover tightly and refrigerate until serving time. Melt butter in an 8-inch skillet over low heat; add shredded rice squares and brown, stirring often. Sprinkle cereal with garlic powder to taste; cool. Toss the salad with the French dressing, just before serving, adding salt and pepper if needed. Add the shredded-rice squares and toss again. Serve at once. Makes 8 servings.

LENTEN SALAD NOTES

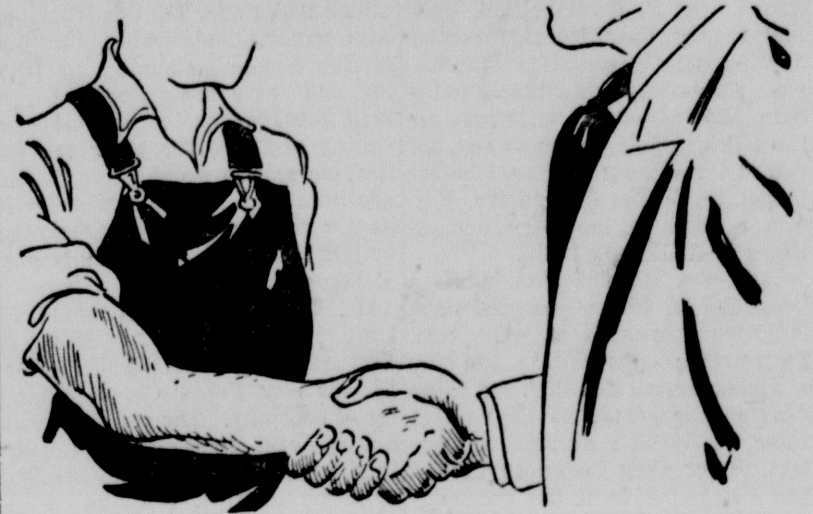

Blue cheese helps add protein to Lenten salads. Here are some ways you might like to use it.

1. Slice hard-cooked eggs and serve with blue cheese blended with French dressing.
2. Blend cream cheese and blue cheese and use as a stuffing for celery wedges. Serve on greens with French dressing as a salad.
3. Slice tomatoes into halves and cut a small wedge out of the center of each; fill cavities with blended cream cheese and blue cheese. Serve on crisp greens with French dressing.
4. Serve orange sections, onion rings and salad greens finely-cut blue cheese and an oil-viegar dressing.

Although it is sometimes called the "prairie wolf," the coyote is much smaller than the true wolf and more closely resembles the jackal.
